

NH to host US Junior Amateur golf tournament

June 6, 2012

STRATHAM, N.H.—A New Hampshire high school golfer who was runner-up in last year's U.S. Junior Amateur is speaking at an event marking the first time the state is hosting such a tournament.

Chelso Barrett, a Keene High School junior, is among the speakers Wednesday at the Golf Club of New England.

The Stratham-based club recently announced a partnership with the New Hampshire Golf Foundation to host the championship from July 16 to 21. It's the first time a United States Golf Association championship will be held in the state.

A total of 156 of the world's greatest golfers under 18 will compete.

The Golf Club of New England is situated on 450 acres of farmland lined with oak trees, old stone walls and streams.■

http://www.boston.com/news/local/new\_hampshire/articles/2012/06/06/nh\_to\_host\_us\_junior\_amateur\_golf\_tournament/